

Expert Implementation of Leading-Edge and Cost-Effective STORAGE SOLUTIONS

AdvizeX: Providing Optimized Data Storage Solutions with Advanced Technology

The Advizor™ assessment methodology, based on over 600 weighted characteristics, can accurately benchmark the current state of your storage technology infrastructure and identify critical gaps.

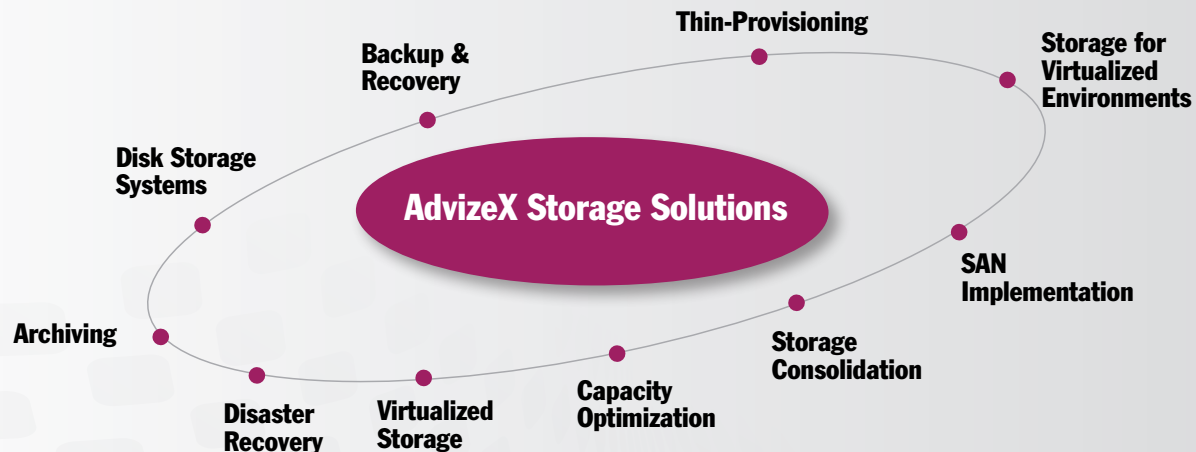

As data growth continues to expand, the demand for storage capacity has grown in parallel creating a new array of technology and cost optimization challenges. Because the functionality of traditional storage solutions and configurations has not always kept pace, organizations now need to look beyond traditional approaches to find solutions that can dynamically optimize performance, availability, capacity, and cost.

Tackling Your Toughest Storage Challenges

Identifying resource gaps and critical needs is an important first step. In many data centers today, as much as 65% of storage capacity isn't utilized. In addition, storage admins face many of the same issues associated with the server side of the house—the need to reduce cooling power and data center footprint by minimizing IT sprawl. And now complex new compliance regulations mean that every organization has to make sure that business-related documents are properly archived.
